Presbyterian Minister Endorses Chiropractic

Dr. John T. Bacon for 25 years pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Springfield, Mo., and one of the leading clergymen of the state gives the following testimony:

"Knowledge, without a guess, is my appreciation of Chiropractic. It has been more than a year ago since I consulted a Chiropractor regarding my ailments, of which I had many. Thanks to the Science of Chiropractic, I am a well man today.

"Some months previous to this time I had an attack of what was diagnosed as influenza and this resulted in a nervous breakdown. I tried practically every known method of treatment, without any benefit. I had no faith in Chiropractic, but decided to try it as a last resort. The Chiropractor was a very busy man, so there was no preliminary, and I was at once turned over to his assistant who took an X-ray of my spine. I was then told to return the following day.

"When I returned, the chiropractor asked me to sit in front of a reading lamp to review my X-ray pictures, and I want to say positively that within the short space of two minutes he, after asking me a few questions, told me about my ailments.

"This amazed me. I was impressed. I thought to myself, 'Chiropractic is a real science.' My attitude toward Chiropractic changed immediately. I was ashamed of my ignorance concerning this science. I began to read literature explaining it.

"I want to say right here that I consider Chiropractic the greatest healing art in the world today. I feel that I have made a complete recovery from my ills, which has, of course, taken time. I have been under the care of the chiropractor for a little more than a year."

What Chiropractic vertebral adjustments have done for Dr. Bacon, it should do for you.

BIG VICTORY FOR THE STATESBORO SCHOOL

CHANGED FROM AGRICULTURAL TO GEORGIA NORMAL BY LEGISLATURE

The signature of Gov. Walker to a bill changing the First District A. & M. School to the Georgia Normal school ends a victorious fight to give Southeast Georgia a Normal College. The House of Representatives voted 150 to 20 in favor of the bill, and the Senate gave it a vote of 39 to 3. Legislators from every section of the state in casting their ballot for the measure publicly declared that South Georgia had been neglected by the Legislature in the matter of higher education and that they were glad to see a college located at Statesboro to serve this section of the state.

At a meeting of the Statesboro Ad Club, the civic club that has directed and promoted the movement to create a State Normal School here, the entire program was given over to a discussion of the future of the Georgia Normal School as a college to train teachers for the public schools. A special invitation was extended to Dr. W. D. Kennedy of Metter, the local senator, and to Representative Harvey D. Brannon and J. C. Parrish of Bulloch to be the guests of the club on this occasion.

J. E. McCroan, chairman of the board of trustees of the new college, expressed the official appreciation of the school to all legislators who helped with the measure, and especially the First district and border county contingent who at all times championed the bill to give Southeast Georgia a state normal. The school is especially indebted to Col. Howell Cone of the local bar for his services as chairman of a steering committee to secure the enactment of this legislation.

Mr. Hollis was asked if the prospective teachers of the territory were enrolling for the coming session. He said, "We already have the applications of half as many young men and young ladies as we can accommodate this year. Since our appropriation is small we cannot enroll more than thirty-five of forty for the college work this year. One must be a graduate or the equivalent of a graduate of an accredited high school to be admitted to the course. I would like for it to be understood that the Georgia Normal at Statesboro will establish and maintain as high standards in every respect as the normals at Valdosta, Milledgeville and Athens. A diploma from our school will have the same legal standing as the normal diploma of any other state.

In order that the general public may know the actual provisions of the bill creating the Georgia Normal school at Statesboro it is given in full as follows:

"To be entitled an act to establish, organize and maintain as a branch of the University of Georgia, a normal school or teachers' college, to be located at Statesboro, Ga., and to be known as the Georgia Normal School, and to include therein, the organization, plan and equipment of the First District Agricultural and Mechanical School; to provide for course of study therein, to provide for a board of trustees thereof, and for other purposes.

"Sec. 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the state of Georgia, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, that there shall be, and is hereby established at Statesboro, Ga., on the tract of land occupied by the First District Agricultural and Mechanical School, as a branch of the University of Georgia, a normal school for teachers, to be known as the Georgia Normal School, to which shall be admitted white students, citizens of this state, both male and female, and without charges for tuition therein.

"Sec. 2. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the plant, equipment and property both real and personal of said First District Agricultural and Mechanical School, title to which is in the state of Georgia, shall be for the use of said Georgia Normal School, and the trustees of said First District.

PRESIDENT CREATES NEW EASTERN GAME REFUGES

President Coolidge has just signed a proclamation creating two game refuges on the Cherokee National Forest in Tennessee and Georgia for the protection and administration of game in that region.

Originally all sorts of wild life native to the region thrived there, and an effort will be made to restore the game through protection and possibly through planting of desirable species. Deer and wild turkey are well adapted to this general region. The success of the effort made will depend very largely on the cooperation of interested citizens.

The Tennessee game refuge is in the Big Frog Mountain country south of the Ocoee river in Polk county. It has an area of 30,000 acres, acquired under the Weeks law, and is to be called the Cherokee National Game Refuge Number One.

The Georgia refuge is on the watersheds of Nootootla and Rock creeks in Fannin county, with a small part in Union county—about 14,000 acres in all—to be known as Cherokee National Game Refuge Number Two.

The States of Tennessee and Georgia have passed legislation which gives to the Federal Government full authority to make rules and regulations designed to protect and preserve the game animals, game and non-game birds, and fish. This work will be in the hands of the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture, under the immediate supervision of the Forest Supervisor, Forest Service, Knoxville, Tennessee.

DROWNING OF BOY ENDS PRESS MEETING

MUNNERLYN LAD VICTIM OF CAPSIZED BOAT AT SEABORO CLUB HOUSE.

Millen, Ga., Aug. 18.—The First District Press Association meeting came to a tragic end here this afternoon when Valpey Reeves of Munnerlyn, lost his life by drowning. The occasion of the meeting was the mid-summer meeting of the First District Press Association which had been invited to convene at Millen, by the chamber of commerce.

The Greece Club at Seaboro had been selected as the place best suited for the outing and quite a number of pressmen from over the district were in attendance, besides quite a few people from Millen, among them being four children. A sumptuous barbecue dinner had transacted the business of the occasion, the majority of the visitors returned to their respective homes about mid-afternoon. Some were behind, mainly, however.

The children were warned not to get into any boats, but the temptation was too great, they ventured forth and the boat capsized. Three were swam ashore, leaving the unfortunate Valpey Reeves, who could not swim, but this was due to the ignorance of the boys who had gone on to the shore.

The river at this point is quite deep and swift, and at 10 o'clock tonight the boat had not been recovered, although scores of people are searching for the body. The unfortunate victim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Reeves of Munnerlyn, and is survived by his two sisters, Vivian and Sadie.

NO AD CLUB MEETING.

There will not be a meeting of the Ad Club Friday, but arrangements are being made for an interesting meeting on the 29th. At that time the Club will have a discussion on the Georgia tobacco crop.

Shenandoah Successfully Rides on Anchor Moored to the S. S. Patoka

The Navy dirigible, Shenandoah, was successfully moored to the mast on board the S. S. Patoka, off Newport. The dirigible was supposed to stay there for three days, but had to cast loose to avoid a storm. The photograph is an exclusive aerial view of the Shenandoah moored to the mast of the Patoka.

REASON WHY STATE SHOULD HAVE A PORT

SUTLIVE FROM CHATHAM GIVES HOUSE HIS VIEWS IN DEBATE WITH ELDERS.

Atlanta, Aug. 18.—During the debate in the house on Wednesday night upon the question of the creation of a state port, one of the arguments in favor of the project was made by W. G. Sutlive, a representative from Chatham. Mr. Sutlive followed Representative Elders of Tattnall county, who spoke against the issuing of bonds for the project, one of the grounds of his opposition being that the state did not now produce a sufficient quantity of beef, pork and other meats to answer to it was found in the lack of encouragement to the farmers to raise meats in Georgia. The erection of a great cold storage plant by the state would bring about a revival of this industry and would stop the importing of meats from other states, he said.

Mr. Sutlive declared the state port was not a new one—that it had been discussed in all sections of Georgia for the past four or five years, a sufficient time for all interested to have informed themselves upon the subject. The recent state tour by Savannahans was intended to be informative, he said, and was so to a very marked extent. Nearly 100 Georgia newspapers have endorsed the state port project, Mr. Sutlive declared. These included weeklies, dailies and industrial and commercial periodicals. A feature that was worth considering he said, was that no representative Georgian who had studied the state port plan and declared for it had ever changed his mind on the subject or gone on record as being opposed to it.

He referred to what other states are doing relative to the state port plan. "Are the Yankees and the westerners smarter than we are in Georgia? Are we to write it down that we fail in progressive moves that are carried to a success by other states?" he inquired. From Boston to San Francisco, with the exception of a rap found along the South Atlantic coast, the country were watching Georgia, they were watching the speaker declared. They knew every day the shipments of Georgia peaches, pecans, watermelons and other produce.

He said the eye of the transportation world were on Georgia as he pointed out the fact that the state port was a project of the future.

NEW ROLLER COASTER AT NEXT STATE FAIR

LATEST FORM OF AMUSEMENT WILL THRILL MIDWAY CROWD IN SAVANNAH.

Savannah, Ga., Aug. 18.—One of the first steps towards developing the Georgia State Fair-Tri-State Exposition grounds here into a public amusement park for yearly operation was taken a few days ago when a contract was signed with L. N. Guerry, of New Orleans, to erect and operate a scenic roller coaster. This will be the first such pleasure device to be put up here in many years, and its lofty structure will extend tremendously to the midway attractions during fair week, October 27-November 1.

The scenic roller coaster will be entirely new with all materials purchased in Savannah

thousands of boys, many of them far from home or without living parents, have gone to the city for advice and guidance, and they have found him a wise counselor and a genuine friend. Many of these young men today are making good in prominent business positions because of the vision which they caught from Mr. Turner.

The Tampa Y. M. C. A. has lost a valuable man in Mr. Turner. It is to be hoped, however, that his usefulness to the young men of the Tampa and South Florida will be increased, rather than lessened, by his change. He is going into evangelistic work, and through his meetings over the state he will come into contact with hundreds who otherwise would not have the opportunity to be influenced by his splendid life. The evangelistic field, which has been hampered so by sensational methods, needs men of Mr. Turner's type.

Tampans, regardless of their religious faith, will join in wishing Mr. Turner Godspeed in his new line of endeavor. And we rejoice that the work is such that he will continue to be a resident of this city.

CITY WATER SUPPLY
DECLARE TO BE GOOD

Having had it called to my attention on several occasions recently that there was some misunderstanding as to the city water supply and that some were under the impression that the water was polluted and in part, at least, responsible for some of the fever we have been having in Statesboro, I wish to take this means to correct this impression, as our water is good—considerably above the average city water. Our water is examined monthly by the state Board of Health.

CHINESE MARRIAGE CUSTOMS
MORE SENSIBLE THAN OURS

Macon, Ga., August 18.—Marriage customs of the Orient are much more sensible than those of America. Poor Yip, Chinese student at Macon university thinks. Every province and eastern country has a different nuptial ceremony, however, he says. Yip, who has traveled widely, has related some of the queer fashions in obtaining a wife or husband on his continent.

In Mongol of Southern China, as part of the wedding performance the groom and his male friends mount horses and with clubs rush into a ring of young women friends of the bride in the middle of which she is standing dressed in red. When the men beat down the women they take the bride and bear her off on their horses, after which the young women wait for their friends who are said to have been stolen from them.

A man proposes to a woman by playing some musical instrument on her porch for days at a time in parts of lower Asia, it is said. Finally, if she wishes to become his wife she joins him in the music and they are married, otherwise she drives him away.

In Turkey there is now a law limiting the number of wives a husband may have to four, and the first of these must be by parental consent, he says. On the other hand, while a visit to India, Yip states he saw a middle-aged wife who had six husbands, all living in the same house.

Agri-cultural and Mechanical School. For their respective terms, judges removed as hereinafter provided, shall have as full and complete authority for the management and control of said school as they have ever had.

"Sec. 3. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That as the terms of said trustees to expire, their successors, fifteen in number, shall be appointed by the Governor with the consent of the Senate from among citizens of said state and they shall hold office for a period of four years and their successors are appointed."

"Sec. 4. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the board of trustees shall serve without compensation, except as to actual expenses incurred in the performance of their duties, on the approval of the chairman of said board, which shall be paid. The term of any trustee upon his or her failure to attend two consecutive regular meetings of said board, shall automatically end, and it shall be the duty of the Governor, upon that fact being made to appear, to appoint a successor for such trustee."

"Sec. 5. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That said trustees shall cause to be maintained in said school courses of study in general agriculture, home economics and other subjects in connection herewith, and in addition, shall require to be taught therein and added thereto at least two years of normal training for teachers similar to that taught in other schools of like character, provided, however, said trustees shall have ample authority by proper rules and regulations to provide for an education of course of study in said school."

"Sec. 6. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That in determining the courses of study and other standards and in making changes therein, the trustees of said school shall do so on the advice of the board of education and the chancellor of the University of Georgia."

"Sec. 7. Be it further enacted, That said trustees shall have authority to create such officers for said school, and employ such teachers, and his salaries of same, as may be necessary to carry out the purpose for said school herein set forth."

"Sec. 8. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That said school shall have the authority to give diplomas, certificates and such other evidences of work done as may be authorized by law or conferred and given by other schools of like character and standing."

"Sec. 9. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That nothing herein contained shall be construed as reducing the authority of the trustees of said school to provide for full instruction in the branches of study heretofore and now prescribed for the students in said school, it being the intention of this act to enlarge the scope and increase the usefulness of said school by maintaining in connection therewith and as a part of same a teachers' training school for the state of Georgia."

"Sec. 10. Be it further enacted, That all appropriations made to the First District Agricultural and Mechanical School shall be used of said Georgia Normal School, as herein consolidated therewith."

"Sec. 11. Be it further enacted, That all laws and parts of laws in conflict herewith are hereby repealed."

HELP FOR OLD FOLKS

Old Age Should Be Happy—Not a Time of Sickness and Suffering

Too many people begin to suffer at middle age with constant headache, primary life and rheumatic pains and aches. Weak kidneys are usually the cause and, if neglected, there is danger of Bright's disease. Help your weakened kidneys with a stimulant medicine before kidney disease gets a firm hold! Use Doan's Pills. Thousands of folks recommend Doan's.

Here is Statesboro proof: R. Brazeal, retired carpenter, 228 E. Main St., says: "I caught a cold in my kidneys and suffered from backache. I could hardly get dressed mornings. I had to get up during the night and my kidneys made me miserable and I was of much account. I was continually tired and could not get out of bed. After the right to pass the kidney secretions. I often had to get up at night and could not get to sleep with aches. I used Doan's Pills from the Bulloch Drug Co., and one box cured me of the attack." 60c at all dealers. PICKED UP
ABOUT TOWN

Providence is mighty kind to a lot of people—it doesn't give them jobs when they yell for it.

We read where a Chicago girl worth $700,000 married a plumber. Well, don't rich people usually marry rich people?

The thing that puzzles a fat man most is where fat woman tucks her fat when she squeezes into a straight-front corset.

"Go ahead and take your choice," says Albert Deal. "Keep cool with Colgate, deliberate with Davis or only with PaFolette."

No man knows more about marriage than the man who has to use a single nail to hold up his trousers at his daughter's wedding.

"We have some very promising young men around town," declares Rulienman Roach. He says some of them will promise you most anything.

"Speaking of hard luck," says S. W. Lewis, "Henry Ford turns in and sends 20,000 flippers to Germany just when she has started in to quiet down."

"I'll soon be so you can't say anything you want to in a barber shop," asserts Raymond Proctor. He declares bobbed hair is interfering with freedom of speech.

Judge Strange says he can't understand why it is that when a man starts in to economize he can think of forty things his wife can save on but nothing that he could sacrifice without ruining his health.

Spanish Modes for Fall

Stylists travel to all quarters of the earth in search of inspiration for new modes. This year the costumes of ancient and modern Spain caught their fancy and now we see reflections of these Spanish styles in our present day apparel. In millinery the Spanish sailor and the treader hat grace the heads of many Americans in adaptations first made welcome by the Parisians. One of these dainty hats is shown here in black tulle and plush.

Gorgeous fringed and embroidered scarfs and shawls, lace dresses and the large Spanish combs that distinguish evening modes, show that fashion's eyes lingered long on the romantic apparel of Spain.

COLD WEATHER CORN.

Corn plays a big part in the life of the average Statesboro family, regardless of whether they raise it or not. So when we read a news item to the effect that a "cold weather corn" has been discovered in South America and is to be tried out in this country we are naturally much interested. Farmers in the United States have lost millions of dollars annually through corn crops being caught by early frosts, and their loss affects every one of us indirectly. It is claimed for the new variety of corn that it will thrive as high as 12,000 feet above sea-level, where it never is very warm, and that it will withstand a pretty generous amount of frost. The ears are not as large as that of corn grown in the United States, but if our farmers can get something to beat the early frosts they'll soon take care of the size of the ears. The new variety would eventually enlarge the size of the ears and the grain, and once the fear of frost is removed there is no reason why the cost of living should not be materially reduced.

A VAST DIFFERENCE.

When a man moves to a big city from a small town, or from the farm, it's hard for him to understand how the man next door can come out and light a cigar and read his paper without as much as looking around and saying "Hello." Sooner or later the newly arrived resident grows into the same easy-going way, and he, too, falls to notice those about him, even those who live on the same square. He soon finds out that the paper without as much as looking around and saying "Hello." Sooner or later the newly arrived resident grows into the same easy-going way, and he, too, falls to notice those about him, even those who live on the same square. He soon finds out that the paper without as much as looking around and saying "Hello." Sooner or later the newly arrived resident grows into the same easy-going way, and he, too, falls to notice those about him, even those who live on the same square.

Staggering figures—yet truthful. And if anyone knows of a better argument why American people should be square with each other we would certainly like to hear what it is.

The man who shines on the seat of his pants seldom shines in society. Our advice to Statesboro citizens is to look not upon the new car as a shiny, cheap paint is a mocker and bum leather causes rage. Later it sheds like a serpent and pooleth like an adder.

AN IDEAL LAW.

Kentucky has recently passed an ideal law. It reads like this: "Any person who shall willfully, knowingly or maliciously repeat or communicate to any person or persons a false rumor or report of a riot, or of a harmful nature, or which may be detrimental to the character or standing of such other person or persons, whether such person is a private citizen, an officer, or a candidate for office, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than $10 nor more than $1000, or imprisoned not less than 10 days nor more than 50 days, or both so fined and imprisoned for such offense."

It's nothing more or less than a fine against gossiping, and it's a fine law. We are as free of gossip in Statesboro as any other town of its size, and yet there are times when such a law is needed in this community. The Kentucky law goes on to state that when created the gossip will be forced to prove on the witness stand that the rumor he or she circulated was absolutely true, and that there were reasonable grounds for circulating same. Since all of us know that not once in a million times can a gossip prove the rumor he circulates, it is easy to see how strong the law really is and how great, could be the number of convictions under it.

Today there is no redress against gossip. Business and character and good name can be swept away with a single false report, and no satisfaction can be had by the injured party. But with a law like this on the statute books of every state there is no reason why gossiping could not be pretty generally stamped out all over the country.

Here is a recipe for being popular—quit telling the truth about your neighbors.

An eastern editor says we can cut out accidents by having an eye-test for drivers. Why not a breath-test, too?

When a Statesboro man says "I'm going to be frank with you," we know we're going to hear something disagreeable.

In South American they upholster auto seats with snake skins. We'll bet we know what make of auto they use rattler skins on.

Slats' Diary
(By Ross Farquhar.)

Friday—well only a couple more weeks, and we go back to the hard grind of school then our kids can't stay in bed and sleep like we did now if we want to nowadays. But there are just two things in life I hate to do: to go to school and to go to bed. I don't want to go to school and I don't want to go to bed. I don't want to go to school and I don't want to go to bed. I don't want to go to school and I don't want to go to bed.

SILVER DOLLARS AGAIN
GO INTO CIRCULATION

Washington, Aug. 17.—Predicting that an annual saving of $1,000,000 would result from their use, the treasury department announced tonight that between forty and fifty million silver dollars soon are to be unloaded on the public.

Approximately fifty million silver dollars are in circulation now. In announcing the proposed circulation, Under Secretary of the Treasury, Garret B. Winston, declared the increased use of silver dollars would permit the treasury to maintain its paper circulation in better condition.

"It is the desire of the treasury," Winston said, "to restore to general circulation silver dollars which formerly represented a material portion of the money used by the public. It is the treasury's plan to invite the assistance and co-operation of other government department, as well as banks and civic organizations generally, in acquiring the public with the desirability of accepting the silver dollars as an auxiliary to the paper dollar in the interest of a better quality of a paper currency and of economy to the government."

In formally launching the circulation drive, the treasury department today placed a silver dollar in the pay envelope of each of its 4,000 employees.

During recent years, the government annually issued about $400,000,000 in paper money. The average life of paper currency is estimated at six months, and the average annual maintenance cost of a paper bill is 3 cents. Huge sums are expended in replacing mutilated currency, while thousands of currency are lost.

Treasury officials pointed out that the life of a silver dollar is virtually unlimited, and their employment in circulation will eliminate the expensive replacement of paper currency, which occurs twice annually.

While widely used in the west, silver dollars are almost extinct in states east of the Mississippi river.

Withdrawals from RACE.

To the Voters of Bulloch County: I am a candidate for re-election as a member of the board of commissioners of roads and revenue of Bulloch county, subject to the Democratic primary of September 10th. I am now completing my first term of two years as a member of the board as at present constituted. If my friends feel that my familiarity with the affairs of the county acquired during that time can be of worth to the taxpayers, I shall appreciate their support at the polls.

Respectfully,

CARD OF THANKS.
To the many friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during the sickness and death of our babe, and especially to Dr. B. A. Deal, who was so attentive to our needs, we wish to return our sincerest thanks.
Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Donaldson.

CARD OF THANKS.
We wish to thank our many friends for the services and sympathy extended us in the death of our dear little baby.
May each one have the richest of blessings.
Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Fuller.

FAMILY REUNION.
A pleasant occasion was the family reunion of the Woodward family at the home of Mrs. A. E. Woodward at Leefield Tuesday, at which Miss Blanche Bradley was the honor guest. Miss Bradley will leave on September 5th as a missionary to China, and it was her early going which was the occasion of the reunion.

WISER MEN AND STRONG MEN
NEEDED IN LEGISLATURE
(Atlanta Constitution.)

There has never been a time in the history of the state so propitious for bringing about a needed reform in the personnel of the Georgia assembly as at present.

The biennial session will enable the people of Georgia to vote on the issue of force and affairs to offer for the assembly who have heretofore shrank from every thought that they should become professional legislators or mixed up in a system of petty politics that has necessarily been built up around the annual session.

Georgia must strike a new pace, and as in North Carolina, the state's ablest citizens must make the sacrifice of time to serve the state unselfishly and for the material benefit of all the people.

Service must supplant selfishness; progress must supplant decadence; understanding must supplant ignorance; soundness must supplant radicalism; soundness must supplant insanity; regularity and solidity must supplant freakishness.

And it is up to the voters to say whether the Georgia assembly shall be 100 per cent representative or not.

The entries are closed, but there are good, representative citizens offering in practically every county in the state, and the duty of the voters is to send only good, representative, thoughtful people to the assembly.

It is unfair to the people to have Georgia kept in her present position through an unprogressive legislature; and unfair to the large number of progressive legislators to have the whole judged by a few freaks.

We are having daily inquiries regarding the names for the next session, and if you have any to sell this fall, list now with Chas. E. Cone Realty Co.—Adv. (14aug28c)

The Debt You Owe Your Child

Hereafter when you see anything relating to the Georgia Normal School at Statesboro remember it is the college that used to be the A. & M. School.

We now offer you four years of A-1 high school work and two years of college work for teachers.

This is the best crop year since 1919. That boy and girl of yours should share it. It is a debt you owe them. They will soon grow past the school age. Put them in school if something else waits.

$37.50 will enroll them at the beginning of school. This pays all fees for the year, the first month's board and the estimated cost of books. The only other cost is $15.00 per month for board due the first of each month. School opens Tuesday, September 9. Send in your application before that date to be sure of getting a room.

DAVIS FORCES KU KLUX
ISSUE UPON COOLIDGECHARACTERIZES METHODS OF ORDER AS WRONG IN HIS NEW JERSEY SPEECH.

(David Lawrence in Atlanta Journal)

Washington, Aug. 23.—The Ku Klux Klan issue, which rocked the Democratic national convention, and his kept the party quivering ever since, has been deposited by John W. Davis on the doorstep of President Coolidge and the Republican party.

The speech of Mr. Davis at Sea-
Girt, N. J., in which he denounced the Klan by name, is of significance and may be said to mark, even at this early date, a turning point in the campaign. There are few observers here who doubt that President Coolidge will meet it squarely. In fact, the expectation has been all along that the President would, at the proper time, come out in denunciation of the Klan.

Senator La Follette has already condemned the Klan, and Mr. Davis, in his invitation to the president to join him in removing the troublesome Klan issue from this campaign, has taken a step which many Republicans and Democrats now feel will serve to eliminate the whole controversy, so far as the presidential candidates are concerned.

But it will not squelch the issue locally. There are many of us who think the Klan is conducting an active campaign, and there is no doubt that the national ticket will be, to some extent, affected by the local quarrels. Until Mr. Davis denounced the Klan by name he was regarded by some of his own Democratic friends as inclined to avoid being specific. His speech at Clarkburg, declaring he never would apply a religious test in making appointments, if elected, was satisfactory to many of the Democratic leaders, but the rank and file would be satisfied with anything less than an explicit denunciation in unequivocal terms.

The state of New Jersey just now is seething with Klan discussion. The Democratic party in New Jersey is bitter against the Klan, and the feeling is plainly at the Madison Square Garden convention, Mr. Davis selected New Jersey as the place for his anti-klan speech because it would have the greatest effect there and would be received favorably too in the neighboring state of New York.

Mr. Davis' decision to name the Klan specifically was not unexpected. This correspondent referred to his intention immediately after the Clarkburg notification speech. In that address Mr. Davis felt he must conform to the letter of the party platform adopted in New York which did not mention the Klan. He made no secret of the fact that before the campaign was over he planned to deal comprehensively with the Klan issue in all aspects.

President Coolidge has told friends who have asked him about it from time to time that he saw no reason to express himself on the Klan issue until the occasion required it. The Republican national platform avoided the mention of organizations of the Klan type, declaring the general terms for the constitutional guarantees of religious freedom. The Democratic platform condemned organizations which had for their object the promotion of racial or religious hatreds. Mr. Coolidge watched the development of the Klan fight at the New York convention and it was suggested at the time that before the convention was over he would write a letter making his position clear.

Democratic leaders today felt sure that Mr. Coolidge would accept the suggestion of Mr. Davis and denounce the Klan because avoidance of the Klan, they argued, would be promptly construed in the big eastern states as a fear of antagonizing the Klan.

The main sources of Coolidge strength are just now in the eastern states, where the Klan promises to be a vital issue in local campaigns. Should any of the Klan organizations attach themselves to the Coolidge banner, even though unwittingly, they would tend to throw votes to the opponent of the Klan toward Davis and La Follette.

Mr. Davis' move, however, was
